Festival of Flowers flourishes again

Another event is rising from the pandemic ashes after a three-year hiatus. This time it's the Festival of Flowers — and it's bursting back onto the gardening scene Saturday, June 3!

The daylong event, now in its 23rd year, features seminars with gardening experts and an indoor mall blooming with plants and landscaping materials.

Make your first stop the SAWS Conservation Station where you'll get a free xeriscape plant (while supplies last, of course). Next, pop in to one of the how-to gardening seminars and the Organic Roundtable for tons of tips and tricks for landscaping success.

Also making a comeback is the Herb Cooking Kitchen for delicious fare and the "learn to garden" kid zone where the little ones can get their green thumbs growing.

And don't forget to bring plants from your garden to swap at the famously fun plant exchange!

9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Shrine Auditorium 901 N. Loop 1604 West (exit Stone Oak Parkway) Adult admission: $8 10 & younger: Free Free parking

Beware of scammers

Scams are constantly evolving. Swindlers may pretend to represent public utilities and they may even mention legitimate programs or policies. No matter the ploy, their goals are the same: to steal your money, your identity or both.

SAWS will never contact you to request your account number, banking account or credit card information.

If something doesn't seem right, hang up or walk away. Scammers often want you to make a quick decision without thinking about it.

When will you hear from us? SAWS will contact you:

- To alert you of an upcoming high bill.
- If you are at risk for service disconnection.
- When your water use is continuous for more than 72 consecutive hours (ConnectH2O customers with electronic meters only).

Of course, we're here to help! To report any suspicious interactions, call us at 210-704-SAWS (7297).

Landscaping tips for May

Given the ongoing drought this may surprise you, but May is historically one of our wetter months. That makes it the perfect time to tackle these tasks:

• Make sure your irrigation system has a working rain sensor. If the sensor is more than five years old, it's time to replace it.

• Refresh the mulch in your garden beds. Apply a generous layer so soil doesn't show through. This discourages weeds, helps retain moisture and reduces the heat in your soil.

• Mind your irrigation settings. It's not summer yet. Consider shorter run times or watering every other week to save.

And remember: Stage 2 watering rules are still in effect and being enforced. Make sure your irrigation system is set to water only on your day during the 7-11 hours.

Visit GardenStyleSA.com for weekly watering advice and landscaping tips to keep your yard thriving.

A bird's eye view of this bird city

Nearly two billion birds wing their way through Texas every spring, stopping in for food and rest along the way. With this delightful parade of feathered travelers, it's no wonder San Antonio is a certified Bird City Texas community.

The designation recognizes community efforts to ensure birds, wildlife and people thrive.

Make your landscape a welcome mat for migrating and resident birds, and other wildlife too.

 Plant in layers. Groundcovers, perennials, shrubs and trees provide shelter, nesting spots and food. Invite caterpillars.
 Native plants host more a insects and caterpillars — food for birds and their babies.

• Bump up your beds. Use our WaterSaver Landscape Coupons to shrink your water-guzzling lawn in favor of garden beds. Apply at GardenStyleSA.com/coupons.

Finally, turn off non-essential outdoor lights from 11 p.m.-6 a.m. so night-migrating birds don't get disoriented.
